S. A. D. 44 BOARD MEETS FOR REGULAR MEETING

A regular session of the S. A. D. 44 board of directors was held at the Telstar Auditorium on Monday evening of this week.

The board voted to petition the Woodstock board of selectmen to layout a public way easterly from Route 26 in Bryant Pond village to the site of the Woodstock Elementary School. The public way to be along the location of the present entrance to the property.

The directors approved the implementation of a Title I Project, part B, at the Woodstock and Andover schools. Also approved was the voluntary transfer of Katherine Roth, kindergarten teacher at Andover to the Title project and the posting of a vacancy in the Andover kindergarten position.

The board confirmed the action of Supt. Basil Kinney in providing for the payment of $5 to the family of Jeff Kendall of Woodstock for each school day that the family transports Jeff Kendall to the nearest S. A. D. 39 bus stop. The Kendall family resides in a part of Woodstock remote from a S. A. D. 44 bus route and it is more feasible that the student attend a S. A. D. 39 school. Also authorized was tuition payment to S. A. D. 39 as determined by statute.

Permission was granted for the Telstar Band to participate in a bicentennial parade in Rumford on Sunday, Nov. 2. Also tentative approval was accorded April vacation trips for the Telstar Spanish Club to Puerto Rico, and the German Club to Germany.

The board approved the appointment of Suzanne Taylor as literary advisor for the Telstar school newspaper and David Tripp as art advisor, Telstar yearbook.

A sum of $1,376 was approved toward an anticipated budget requirement of $1,800 for the use of skiways and ski slopes by Telstar ski teams.

The board confirmed the action of their negotiations committee in setting stipends for the following extra duty assignments at the same level as the 1974-75 school year: varsity football, assistant football (two), athletic director, cross country, field hockey, cheerleading, yearbook advisor (three), newspaper advisors (two), student council, physical education (elementary), art (elementary), district vocal music, and district instrumental music.

The board approved a statement that S. A. D. 44 "does not discriminate."

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all of our friends, customers, and employees for their support and patronage during the past nine years at the Bethel Spa Restaurant. May you continue to support Es-ther as well as you did us. Come in and visit us at our new venture.

CYCLE-CROSS COMING TO BETHEL, SUNDAY, OCT. 19

The sport of Cycle-Cross will be introduced to Bethel, and to Maine on Sunday, Oct. 19, when the Bethel Bicentennial Committee's Horizon group will sponsor the first in a series of training races in this most unusual recreational activity. Cycle-cross, while still relatively unknown in the U. S., is a major fall and winter activity of racing bicyclists in Europe. It involves racing bicycles over a variety of cross-country terrain and while it is basically a bicycling race, occasional obstacles and steep terrain require dismounting and carrying the bicycle.

The Oct. 19 training race for children and adults will be held from 10 a. m. until noon in the area between Lovers Lane and Freshman Brook. Another training race is being planned for Nov. 2 at Telstar Regional High School, to be followed by a Maine State Cycle-Cross Championship to be held at Gould Academy on Nov. 9.

Anyone, spectator or would-be competitor, is encouraged to attend these events, which feature a unique mixture of hard work and humor. Through the sponsorship of the cycle-cross activities the Bethel Bicentennial Committee hopes to call attention to the many possibilities which exist for recreational activities. For information about the cycle-cross clinics and race, call Art Proberg, 824-2980.

The Bingham Health Council has been working with the Kennebec Regional Valley Health Agency to obtain the Federal grant and to solicit local funds, to remodel the building.

The clinic will be maintained by Mr. Girard, the physicians assistant, a nurse and a secretary. Dr. Kaschub is an internal medicine specialist at the Redington-Fairview Hospital, Skowhegan.

ADULT EDUCATION COM. MET SEPTEMBER 30

The "select committee" charged with making recommendations for the implementation of an adult education program for SAD 44 in cooperation with Gould Academy held its first meeting, under the chairmanship of David Denison, at Telstar High School on Tuesday night, Sept. 30. David McCullough, consultant on adult education for the State Department of Education, spoke to the committee supplying them with information on the breadth and range of adult educational programs, state requirements and funding opportunities.

The committee's first intent was to express their desire to implement an adult education program that would begin in Jan., 1976 (an appropriate way to initiate the bicentennial year by providing a second chance for many adults). The committee will welcome any recommendations, comments or input that citizens of SAD 44 would like to contribute. The adult education program is without value if it cannot be responsive to the needs of the community. Expressions of interest in participating in such a program as well as recommendations for course offerings will be well received. Please contact any one of the following committee members with your comments: David Denison, Margaret Buck, Brian Flynn, Pat Hudson, Nancy Cross, Dexter Landers, Archie Young, Trudy Akers, Dick Dolven, Jane Mills.

Meetings will be held on a weekly basis with the target date of Dec. 1, 1975, as a deadline for the submission of the report.

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

This morning a ruffling shimmer of golden leaf clouds slant upward from our valley toward bright October skies. Some are whipped by the wind and zig-zag to the ground. The broad feathery poplar leaves float like flocks of golden birds.

The goldenrods have become gray ghosts and by the pond the rich chocolate of cattails have faded to a thinner brown.

Another summer has come and gone. Soon, if you go out some starlit night you will feel the chill edge of a breeze and possibly hear the calls of the wild geese as they wing their way across the sky. In obedience to an ancient instinct, through the centuries wild geese have answered its powerful calls, south in autumn, north in spring.

There's an interlude now before winter sets in, the season of fragrance and rich coloring.

I have traveled in several sections this week; old roads, up the railroad to the pot holes, to Buck's camp, an old land mark on top of Noyes Mountain, and up Sanborn River in my boat, rowed by my sister-in-law.

There is no place that surpasses the top farm fields for beauty but in different places things are as different as are people. The mountains in the distance with sloping shoulders carry the white birches, spruces, and hemlocks. The granite topped ridges are outlined against a blue, cloud patched sky while below nestle the ponds. In a picture taken along the shoreline it is puzzling at times to tell the sky from the water.

Up the railroad there are bright pennants against green backgrounds, sumac clumps on ledges and fiery blotches of color above amber grasses.

On Sanborn River the waters carried the first colored leaves, jeweled galleons, covering the mystery of the bottom, as if protecting it from that time to come when it is deprived of its freedom and held in solid winter bondage. Now, however, the waters were still, glassy, the air balmy. It was nice to just sit in the boat, watching. Part of the fun of boating is sinking into reverie, yet at the same time you are aware of the

From well down big pond we faced a long sweep, took pictures into the mirrors then came home to tie BOAT beneath a yellow maple.

Then toward night, with eyes filled brimful of color, I turned to find the land was brushed dark with a single stroke. Turning to the sky again above Edgcomb Mountain there was a flame of crimson, the sinking sun, which made a path across the water. At that moment two black ducks swam and then floated as tiny "rose-pink boats" directly on that path of color. I'm not sure such a phenomenon is not an everyday occurrence.

LY FIT!—The week of Oct. 6-12 has been proclaimed by Governor James Longley as "Maine's Physical Fitness Week." Working with the motto "Your body is your buddy so be good to it," Telstar girls have been busy all week preparing creative and appropriate projects. Project displays have included decoupage, posters, mobiles

TELSTAR DEFEATS MADISON, 14-6, FOR THIRD WIN

Bruce Swan raced 68 yards with a fumble recovery to assure Telstar's Rebels of a 14-6 win over host Madison High in their Mountain Valley Conference battle Saturday afternoon.

It was the third triumph for the Rebels against a pair of losses while the Bulldogs are at one win, three losses, and a tie.

Telstar struck first moving 56 yards in 12 plays to score at 3:47 of the second quarter. A 30 yard run by halfback Mike Dunn was the big play in the series, moving the ball to the Madison 12.

Four plays later Alan Seames hit in from the four and then rushed for the two point conversion.

Tackle Bob Linkletter recovered a Telstar fumble on the Telstar 19 to set up the Madison touchdown. Four plays later quarterback Paul Withee sneaked over. A pass for the tying points was batted down.

In the final quarter the Telstar defense forced the Madison quarterback to fumble, with Swan picking up the loose ball and racing 68 yards for the score. The kick for the extra point was wide of the mark.

Duffy Ellsworth, Greg Sessions and Jeff Fleet were defensive standouts for Telstar while Glen Withee was the top defender for the Bulldogs.

The summary:

Telstar 0 8 0 6-14

Madison 0 6 0 0-6

Telstar—Seames, 4, run. Seames rush.

Madison—P. Withee, 1, run. Pass failed.

Telstar—Swan, 68, fumble recovery. Kick failed.

Values vary in different sections of the State, but the rate for Newry is $33.20 per acre for softwood growth, $21.30 for mixed growth and $11. for hardwood growth, based upon an assessment ratio of 100%.

"The driver's safer when the road is dry, and the road is safer when the driver is dry."

The Town of Newry lost $484,250, in assessed valuation in 1975. With a tax rate of .029 this means a tax loss of $14,043.25, which must be made up by other property owners. Under the law, the State is to reimburse Towns for 90% of the loss from 1972 taxes, but this reimbursement will not be made until the fall of 1977, and since 1975 taxes are higher than 1972, the reimbursement will only amount to $8,258.91. Newry's assessed valuation for 1975 is $1,767,050. Without the Tree Growth Law this valuation would have been $2,251,300. This would have meant a tax rate of .023, or a 20% reduction.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

ed to provide various definitions of history so that his audience would be aware of the difficulties of judging the merit of a particular historian. Then he briefly traced the development of historical writing in the United States from the Puritan historian through the patriotic to the professional. With this as background the curator attempted to explain the popularity of writing local history beginning in the latter half of the 19th century and continuing on to the present day. The focus of his paper however remained on the strengths and weaknesses of William Berry Lapham the historian. Lapham was an extraordinary individual who wrote five local histories plus countless genealogies and specialized accounts. Although born in Woodstock, his formative years were spent in Bethel. After attending various colleges but never graduating, he settled in Bryant Pond and opened a medical practice there. Serving as postmaster and a leading citizen of that town, he distinguished himself in various capacities. During the Civil War he saw action in a number of the significant battles of that conflict eventually achieving the rank of brevet major. He moved to Augusta a few years after the war and resided there as editor of the Maine Farmer for some years until his death in 1894. He was buried in Bryant Pond. It was during his residency in Augusta that he wrote most of the works by which he is remembered today including a history of Bethel completed in 1890.

Lapham's writing contains most of the usual weaknesses of local history (lack of objectivity, documentation, perspective, etc.) but he did record information that can be found in no other source and knowledge of certain subjects such as the flora and fauna of a region was certainly exceptional. Bethel is indeed fortunate that he compiled her history despite the very evident weaknesses.

Refreshments followed the program.

BETHEL HEAD START

Now that we have been to school with each other for a few days, and are getting to know each other things are really going well. The good weather has been a real blessing. We took advantage of it on Monday by taking an extended field trip. Our first stop was at Robert Bean's farm in Sunday River. Here we enjoyed watching the baby pigs and cows. Next we journeyed to the Sunday River Ski Area where we walked up to the chair-lift and discussed its use. There were quite a few excited children as they looked skyward to the endless expanse of chairs. By the time we were done at the ski-way we were all ready for lunch. So, we stopped at the picnic area alongside the river. One thing we discovered there were acorns. Each child went home with a pocketful of them. Before we went back to the center we took the children to West Bethel, where they got to see the new school they will be going to soon.

On Tuesday Louise took us to her house where we played in her back yard and enjoyed lunch.

Our physicals will be done next week by Dr. Scalata in Norway.

Our thanks this week to Jean Monzo, who came on a moments notice, Linda Haegele, Eilyn Gonzalez, Joyce Hoyt and Sharon Rice for volunteering. Donations were: blocks and dowels, Mrs. Edie Smith; knitting yarn, Mrs. Maurice Bouchard, and stuffed animals, Mrs. Hazel Brooks.

A Council meeting is being held at Waterville, Oct. 12. It is at 10 a. m. at the Jefferson Hotel. Nine from Bethel are planning to attend.

Letters from State President Blanch Burke of Bangor; Elmira Chase, State Treasurer, of Winthrop, were read. An invitation to attend a banquet in honor of President Burke, being held jointly with State Commander Leland Grey, Oct. 26, at the Congregational Church on Hammond St., Bangor, at 2 o'clock, was received.

An invitation by Albert Skillings, Barracks commander, inviting the Auxiliary to the November dinner being served by the Barracks was accepted. The ladies will furnish dessert and salads.

It was reported that Rose Taylor is a patient in intensive care at the Rumford Community Hospital, from a heart attack. She is resting comfortably at this time. Card by all was signed.

Eva Johnston is also unable to attend meetings and is on the sick list.

A silent auction is on the agenda for November. Olive Head and Iola Forbes are in charge. Each member is to bring an article for this occasion.

The treasurer's books were audited by the Trustees and found in order.

The committee for November are Leona Curtis, Jane Van and Maude Danforth. State guests are expected to attend.
